

Don't forget that our summer reading challenge is almost over, but you still have time to participate. We'll be meeting at 6:30 on Thursday, August 27 in Fellowship Hall to discuss "Separation of Church and Hate." There are too many important ideas to cover in one session, but we'll do our best. If there is enough interest, we could do a longer book study as either a Sunday School class or a weekly meeting. We can meet at the church or on Zoom at a time we can agree on. Don't forget to sign the list at the back of the Sanctuary if you read the book. You don't need to come to the book discussion for me to donate ten dollars to the Open Pantry, but I need to know how many people read the book.. If you are planning to come on the 27th, please let me or the office know. We're having ice cream sundaes, and I need to have enough for everyone. I'm looking forward to a great discussion.
